

Joan Miro

Project: Based on Miro's playful style, dark outlines, and bright palette, we will create our own poetry on paper. Think of a special place or time and what shapes and colors may symbolize that event. Then have fun!

Process: We will work on white paper, outline our story first in black marker, and then color in the shapes with markers, pastels, or crayons.

Materials: Basic supplies, paper, color medium (markers, pastels, crayons, paints), and lots of creativity!
